Foxbury Farm 🍷

In November 2009 this successful farm shop, run by Di and Colin Dawes with their daughter Rebecca, reopened in a new roomy food hall. The state-of-the-art meat counter is impressive, with all pork, beef and lamb coming from the farm. The range of cuts is amazing; butchers are at work all the time behind the counter – do not be surprised to see a magnificent whole leg of well-hung, wine-coloured beef on display. Free-range chickens are from a Lechlade supplier who only started rearing poultry because the Dawes provided the market. That is the kind of people they are. I am not a wine buff (only an enthusiastic consumer), but I liked the display of wines in their boxes. Vegetables are seasonal and mostly local; jams are supplied by an allotment holder; flour is from Matthews and Wessex Mills, both local firms. A great farm shop run by nice driven people selling competitively priced meat. Bravo.

Goodwood Farm Shop

The Goodwood Estate has recently been revitalised by son and heir to owner Duke of Richmond & Gordon, Lord March, and is now farmed organically. The Estate's farms rear organic Sussex / Dairy Shorthorn beef, Saddleback pork and Southdown lamb to Soil Association standards, guaranteeing excellent welfare. Environmental standards on the farm have seen the return of many songbirds and wildlife now flourishes. Most of the week the shop will have meat in the freezer, but by Wednesday a fresh supply will be on the shelves. The Goodwood dairy (see page 252) supplies the shop's other star – lovely, golden-coloured non-homogenised milk and cream. You can also buy raw, unpasteurised milk. On race days, burgers, sausages and roasts made with Estate meat are on sale at the racecourse.
